M.A.-I POLITICAL SCIENCE
Semester-I
Course Code: MPSC101	Course Name – Political Theory & Ideology
Course Objective: This course would help the student familiarize with the basic normative concepts of political theory. Each concept is related to a crucial political issue that requires analysis with the aid of our conceptual understanding. The study of political ideologies gives the student a window through which to view complex political phenomena. This course examines the origins and impact of ideologies on the development of societies. Course Outcome: The foundations of Political Science lie in Political theory and political philosophy. Without grasping the essentials of politics and the diverse ideologies practiced by modern states by way of liberalism, socialism and Marxism, justice cannot be done with the discipline. The present paper would, thus, lay a strong foundation of ethical and normative politics through which students will enable themselves to understand the deeper nuances of the subject. In particular, the dominant themes of the day- Nationalism and Multiculturalism and its role in current-day national and international will become clearer to students.
