ABOUT THE SEMINAR

India hosted the G20 Presidency at a celebration of its 75th year of independence. Indian youth must take part in finding solutions to the many issues facing the nation as it moves closer to being a developed nation. To close the knowledge gap among youth, it is necessary to address the compartmentalisation of young people in terms of introducing them to global concerns such as the Sustainable Development Goals, international institutional reform, etc., which are a part of the new development paradigm. Without these measures, the growing Indian economy may face significant challenges. Giving young people the tools, chances, and support they need to reach their full potential and make valuable contributions to society is a key component of empowering them. When it comes to youth development, sports promote holistic development by establishing qualities of discipline, collaboration, and resilience, while education lays the groundwork for intellectual growth and critical thinking. Youth skill development gives them the real-world skills they need to succeed in the fast-paced world of today. Jobs provide pathways to financial autonomy and self-sufficiency. Taken as a whole, these pillars serve as the cornerstone for empowering and fostering the Yuva Shakti in the direction of a better future. The proposed national seminar will provide an opportunity to discuss threadbare on the pertinent issues and future agenda of development for energising youth for their significant contribution. The Sub-Themes of the Seminar are as follows :

- Shared Future : Youth In Democracy and Governance Youth in Legislature and Politics
- Future of Work : Industry 4.0, Innovation and 21st Century Skills
- Peace Building and Reconciliation : Ushering in An Era of No War
