

KMC Language University gets another international patent

Prof. Sanjeev Kumar Trivedi, Director of the Faculty of Engineering and Technology, KMC Language University, has received a South African patent. This is the fourth patent of Prof. Sanjeev Kumar Trivedi and seventh patent of the university. He got this patent for classification related to support vector machine and its process. This will help in estimating the power load on the grid and managing the instability of electricity on the grid. This is indeed a matter of great pride for the university.
